Dear Sirs

I am firmly of the view that Cullompton has already suffered a huge detriment to the wellbeing of its residents owing to increased house-building, without putting in place adequate infrastructure. ANY proposals to significantly increase the number of homes in the Town MUST be linked to improved infrastructure BEFORE they are built - in particular, transport links by road and rail and sports and leisure facilities.

I find it incomprehensible that MDDC is proposing to reduce the levy charged at a time when infrastructure improvement is needed more than new homes.

Regards,

R A Wilce
